

MATRALLETA

COFFEE CO.

SAN DIEGO × BAJA CA

THE BRAND

Matralleta is a small-batch specialty coffee brand born between San Diego and Baja California — Baja-born beans, San Diego attitude, shipped wherever you are. We keep the roster tight on purpose: four blends we stand behind and keep perfecting over time, instead of twenty we can't. Each one has its own personality and its own job — the bright first cup, the balanced daily driver, the double-shot workhorse, the loud one — together covering the full roast spectrum, light to loud. Small batch. Fully loaded.

THE ROSTER — ROAST SPECTRUM, LIGHT TO LOUD

QUICK DRAW

LIGHT · BRIGHT

DUAL WIELD

MEDIUM · BALANCED

DOUBLE FEED

ESPRESSO · BLEND

RATATATAT

DARK · STRONG CUT

ABOUT THIS DOCUMENT

Each page describes the cup we're chasing — vision, target profile, roast level. These are desired bases, not contracts: every page names where we're flexible and where we're not, with room for notes as we build each blend together. One hard requirement across the roster: Ratatatat is Mexican-grown — the brand's roots need beans to back them up.

FOR THE TABLE — TO DISCUSS

- ☐ Cupping session against the four profiles
- ☐ Current green inventory & what substitutes
- ☐ MOQ per blend / per roast run
- ☐ Private label terms & bagging
- ☐ Lead time: order → roasted → bagged
- ☐ Pricing at launch volume vs. scale
- ☐ Roast dates on bags (freshness story)

DUAL WIELD

OUR VISION — WHAT THIS COFFEE IS MEANT TO BE

Our flagship and daily driver — the bag we hand to someone who asks “which one do I start with?” Dual Wield is our balance: the whole identity of this cup. Nothing spikes, nothing hides. Honey sweetness, a warm cinnamon edge, medium roast, round and even. Sweet enough to drink black, structured enough to hold milk. Simple and straightforward — done exceptionally well.

WHY IT EXISTS IN THE LINEUP

Every roster needs its anchor. The wild blends only work because this one stays composed. Dual Wield is the volume seller, the repeat purchase, the one that has to be effortless to reorder and dead consistent from run to run.

WHERE WE'RE FLEXIBLE — ROASTER'S CALL

The most open page in this document. We don't care where the bean comes from — we care that the cup is balanced, sweet, and repeatable at volume. If there's a coffee the roaster already runs daily and knows inside out, that's the ideal candidate: consistency and easy reordering matter more here than exotic sourcing.

ROASTER NOTES — CUPPING IMPRESSIONS, AVAILABLE LOTS, SUBSTITUTIONS, PRICING, MOQ

THE CUP WE'RE CHASING — DESIRED BASE, NOT A CONTRACT

TARGET ORIGIN	Roaster's call — single origin or house base that cups balanced (Colombia or a Central American is the classic answer)
ROAST LEVEL	Medium
ROAST DIAL	●●●○○
TARGET NOTES	Honey, cinnamon — round, sweet, even
ACIDITY	■■■■■■■■■■
BODY	■■■■■■■■■■
BREW CONTEXT	Versatile: drip, pour over, French press. Must also hold up with milk.
FORMAT	12 OZ (340G) · WHOLE BEAN

OUR VISION — WHAT THIS COFFEE IS MEANT TO BE

WHY IT EXISTS IN THE LINEUP

WHERE WE'RE FLEXIBLE — ROASTER'S CALL

ROASTER NOTES — CUPPING IMPRESSIONS, AVAILABLE LOTS, SUBSTITUTIONS, PRICING, MOQ

THE CUP WE'RE CHASING — DESIRED BASE, NOT A CONTRACT

TARGET ORIGIN	Mexico — Chiapas target (the one non-negotiable origin in the roster)
ROAST LEVEL	Dark — our 'Strong Cut'
ROAST DIAL	● ● ● ● ●
TARGET NOTES	Cocoa, chili — bittersweet, long finish
ACIDITY	■ □ □ □ □
BODY	■ ■ ■ ■ ■
BREW CONTEXT	Drip, French press, or espresso for the brave. The strong cut of the lineup.
FORMAT	12 OZ (340G) · WHOLE BEAN

OUR VISION — WHAT THIS COFFEE IS MEANT TO BE

WHY IT EXISTS IN THE LINEUP

WHERE WE'RE FLEXIBLE — ROASTER'S CALL

THE CUP WE'RE CHASING — DESIRED BASE, NOT A CONTRACT

TARGET ORIGIN	Ethiopia target — Kenya or Colombia Huila substitute cleanly
ROAST LEVEL	Light
ROAST DIAL
TARGET NOTES	Citrus, honeysuckle — bright, floral, clean
ACIDITY
BODY
BREW CONTEXT	Pour over and drip first. Should shine as a single-cup ritual coffee.
FORMAT	12 OZ (340G) · WHOLE BEAN

ROASTER NOTES — CUPPING IMPRESSIONS, AVAILABLE LOTS, SUBSTITUTIONS, PRICING, MOO

DOUBLE FEED

OUR VISION — WHAT THIS COFFEE IS MEANT TO BE

The enthusiast's bag — for people with machines at home. A dedicated espresso roast that pulls sweet, syrupy doubles: dark chocolate, brown sugar, heavy body, low acidity, no sourness at a standard 1:2 recipe. This is our two-origin blend — two beans fed into one chamber. Two origins, one bag; two shots, one cup. Everything about this blend comes in pairs.

WHY IT EXISTS IN THE LINEUP

The only blend in the roster built from two components on purpose: great espresso bases almost always are — one bean for body and sweetness, one for structure. Three single origins serve the brew crowd; this engineered pair serves the machine crowd and completes the roast spectrum.

WHERE WE'RE FLEXIBLE — ROASTER'S CALL

Which two beans is entirely the roaster's call — if he already runs a proven two-component espresso blend, that's the perfect starting point and we cup from there. What can't change: it must pull SWEET at 1:2 with no sour edge, and stay forgiving for home baristas who don't weigh every shot.

ROASTER NOTES — CUPPING IMPRESSIONS, AVAILABLE LOTS, SUBSTITUTIONS, PRICING, MOQ

THE CUP WE'RE CHASING — DESIRED BASE, NOT A CONTRACT

TARGET ORIGIN	Two-origin espresso blend — Brazil + Honduras as the target pair, or the roaster's proven espresso base
ROAST LEVEL	Espresso (full city to Vienna range)
ROAST DIAL	●●●●○
TARGET NOTES	Dark chocolate, brown sugar — syrupy, sweet
ACIDITY	■□□□□
BODY	■●●●●□
BREW CONTEXT	Espresso first: dialed for 18g in / 36g out in ~28-32s. Also strong in a moka pot.
FORMAT	12 OZ (340G) · WHOLE BEAN

PRICING

THE POSITION — STANDARD SPECIALTY, ON PURPOSE

2026 market data across 10,000+ specialty coffees: the average bag sells at $20, the median at $18, and $15-25 is the most common range. Below $15 signals grocery aisle; above $25 is the gourmet tier we're deliberately not playing in. We price at the median — real quality, honest number.

OUR PRICE

FORMAT	12 OZ (340G) · WHOLE BEAN — the U.S. specialty standard
RETAIL	$18 flat — every blend, one price
WHY FLAT	One roster, one price. No menu math, no coupon pricing — matches the brand's simplicity. All four blends are equals.
SHIPPING	“Doubles ship free” — free shipping at 2+ bags. Absorbs the $5-8 DTC shipping problem and raises average order size, in brand language.

FUTURE LAYER (NOT AT LAUNCH)

Limited-edition drops command roughly 2× the per-ounce price of core roster coffee. A rotating micro-lot series on top of the permanent four stays available as a premium layer later — without ever touching the $18 core.

UNIT TARGETS — WHAT THE ROASTER
QUOTE MUST CLEAR

LANDED COST	≤ $9.00 per bag, roasted + bagged + labeled
PRODUCT MARGIN	≥ 50% at $18 retail before shipping
COMFORT ZONE	$6-8 landed — typical small-roaster private label range at low volume in 2026
WHOLESALE LATER	Standard wholesale is ~50% of retail ($9). Only viable when landed cost reaches ~$5-6 at scale — a volume conversation, not a launch conversation.

ASK THE ROASTER — COST AT VOLUME
TIERS

- ☐ Per-bag cost at MOQ (smallest run he'll do)
- ☐ Per-bag cost at 50 / 100 / 250 bags per run
- ☐ Does bagging & labeling come included?
- ☐ Green price exposure — how often do his costs move?
- ☐ Price difference across the four blends (dark roasts weigh out less; espresso blends vary)

NOTES